My project

I'm busy at the moment, as I am working on a project for my science class. In our last lesson, we talked about the planets and it was very interesting. Today, some people are thinking about how maybe one day astronauts will travel to Mars in spaceships, but the students in my class and I are trying to save the Earth. This is more important now.

We need to walk or cycle to places when we can. For example, instead of driving to the local post office, we can go by bicycle. We also have to save energy in any way we can. In our geography lesson, we learned that many big cities have skyscrapers and there aren't many trees and parks. This is a problem for our environment. Trees give us oxygen and we need that to breathe.

My project is about planting trees, turning off the lights when we leave a room and recycling. After saving the Earth, we can think about travelling to space.

1. How does Kelly feel about her last science lesson?

2. What does Kelly think is more important than travelling to Mars?

3. Why does Kelly say trees are important?

4. When can we think about travelling to space?

Complete the paragraphs and answer the questions. There is one example.
